The Code of Conduct, Our Horizon Way

Horizon Power makes the Code of Conduct accessible to all our people and the general public. The Code of Conduct is discussed during induction sessions and formal leaders are responsible for spending time going through the Code of Conduct with their staff.

Should employees or contractors have questions about the Code of Conduct, they should seek immediate clarification from their formal leader. Members of the general public can seek clarification through our Call Centre on 1800 267 926.

Where legal concerns arise, the formal leader will seek legal advice before any action or decision is taken.

We uphold the following Horizon Power values, as set out in Our Horizon Way, and use them as guiding principles in our conduct and working relationships.

The values are:

- Safety
- Integrity
- Team
- Customer

Reinforcing and enhancing the culture of the business forms an integral part of our performance management approach and our people are assessed on expected behaviours.

Our Horizon Way

We value:

Safety

We look after each other and our communities.

Integrity

We do the right thing and build trusted relationships.

Team

We openly collaborate on solutions and achieve shared goals.

Customer

We partner with customers to deliver improved and sustainable choices.

Manage and monitor the business

Horizon Power's employees, contractors and consultants are required to:

- comply with all applicable legislation, laws, standards, codes and related Horizon Power policies and procedures, including all policies set out in Horizon Power's Corporate Policies Register (Policies Register); and
- act in accordance with Horizon Power's values, as set out in Our Horizon Way.

A link to the Policies Register is available on the Governance page on the Legal & Risk page in Powerlink.

2.1 Who does the Code of Conduct apply to?

The Code of Conduct applies to all of Horizon Power's employees, directors and Type A¹ and Type B² contractors. It is expected that Type A and Type B contractors will abide by Horizon Power's Code of Conduct while engaged with Horizon Power.

Horizon Power views all persons to whom this Code of Conduct applies as ambassadors of the business and expects that those individuals represent and promote Horizon Power in a positive manner.

¹ A Type A contractor is a contractor filling an approved FTE position that would otherwise be performed by an employee directly engaged under Horizon Power employment conditions.

² A Type B contractor is a contractor who is performing work that is temporary in nature, of a defined scope and timeframe.

2.2 Accountable and ethical conduct

We uphold the highest ethical standards and professional conduct consistent with the principles of merit, equity and probity. Stealing, misappropriation, misconduct, fraud, corrupt conduct and illegal practices are not accepted at Horizon Power. Fraud is a dishonest activity that causes actual or potential financial loss to any person or organisation. Corrupt conduct occurs when a person uses or attempts to use their position for personal advantage or to cause detriment to others.

Our relationships are maintained in a manner consistent with the principles of:

- Respect for others
- Integrity and fairness
- Taking responsibility for our own actions and being accountable for the consequences
- Acting honestly, cooperatively and being trustworthy
- Understanding, acceptance of and respect for Indigenous and non-Indigenous culture and heritage
- Upholding a positive image of Horizon Power
- Compliance with legislative and regulatory obligations
- Avoidance of any actions that compromise Horizon Power's legitimate interests and business objectives
- Awareness of personal and professional life relationships in social media channels and avoid acting in a way which could be seen as making statements on behalf of Horizon Power.

2.3 Compliance with the law and policies

We respect and observe all applicable laws and regulations, follow all lawful directions and adhere to all policies set out in the Policies Register. Key legislation, standards and regulations we operate by include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Electricity Corporations Act 2005 (WA);
- Electricity Industry Act 2004 (WA);
- Public Interest Disclosure Act 2003 (WA);
- Environmental Protection Act 1986 (WA);
- Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth);
- Corruption, Crime and Misconduct Act 2003 (WA);
- Equal Opportunity Act 1984 (WA);
- Fair Work Act 2009 (Cth);
- Occupational Safety and Health Act 1984 (WA); and
- Western Australian Public Sector Commissioner's Instruction No. 7: Code of Ethics.

2.4 Consequences of breaching the Code of Conduct

Consequences of a breach of the Code of Conduct are contained within underlying policies, procedures, regulations and other legislation. Such consequences may result in disciplinary action such as verbal or written warnings, suspension or dismissal. In addition, breaches of regulatory or legislative provisions may result in other penalties, such as fines and/or imprisonment.

Fair and just principles will be used in determining consequences as a result of a breach of the Code of Conduct.

People Policy

2.5 Reporting and investigating breaches of the Code of Conduct

You are responsible for reporting any alleged breach, or any matter of concern that may breach the Code of Conduct, to your formal leader.

It is mandatory that any suspected/alleged breach involving:

- collusion;
- dishonesty; or
- misuse of company funds, assets or information (including the suppression of information), be reported immediately to your formal leader, who must in turn inform the Risk and Audit Manager and the General Counsel and Company Secretary. If you feel unable to discuss a suspected/alleged breach with your formal leader or are unhappy with the formal leader or manager's response, then it should be raised with the General Counsel and Company Secretary.

Once an alleged breach is reported it will be reviewed and investigated. Individuals reporting an alleged breach will be advised of the outcome.

The full protection of the Board of Horizon Power will be afforded in relation to the reporting and to anyone who reports alleged misconduct or a breach of the Code of Conduct.

2.6 Public interest disclosures

Horizon Power is committed to supporting and protecting individuals that make disclosures and providing protection to those who are the subject of a disclosure.

Public Interest Disclosure (PID) Officers are the Risk and Audit Specialist, the Risk and Audit Manager, the Manager Human Resources and the General Counsel and Company Secretary.

Anyone thinking of making a disclosure should speak with one of Horizon Power's PID Officers (noted above).

In order to be protected under the Public Interest Disclosure Act 2003 (WA), the disclosure must be made to a proper authority (that is, one of Horizon Power's PID Officers or a proper authority named under the Public Interest Disclosure Act 2003 (WA)).

Additional guidance

Public Interest Disclosure Policy

2.7 Misconduct

Misconduct is defined in section 4 of the Corruption, Crime and Misconduct Act 2003 (WA) and includes minor and serious misconduct.

Serious misconduct is conduct by a public officer who:

- acts corruptly or corruptly fails to act in the course of their duties; or
- corruptly takes advantage of their office or employment to obtain a benefit or to cause a detriment to any person; or
- acting in the course of their duties or while deliberately creating the appearance of acting in the course of their duties, commits an offence punishable by two or more years imprisonment.

Corrupt conduct tends to show a deliberate intent for an improper purpose or an improper motivation. Corrupt conduct may involve an exercise of a public power or function but for private benefit. It may involve conduct such as the deliberate failure to perform the functions of office properly, or the exercise of a power or duty for an improper purpose.

Minor misconduct is conduct by a public officer that:

- adversely affects the honest or impartial performance of the functions of a public authority or public officer, whether or not the public officer was acting in their official capacity at the time of engaging in the conduct;
- involves the performance of functions in a manner that is not honest or impartial;
- involves a breach of the trust placed in the public officer; or

- involves the misuse of information or material that is in connection with their functions as a public officer, whether the misuse is for the benefit of the public officer or the benefit or detriment of another person; and
- constitutes, or could constitute, a disciplinary offence providing reasonable grounds for termination of a person's office or employment.

All misconduct or suspicion of misconduct must be reported immediately to your formal leader, who must in turn inform the Risk and Audit Manager and the General Counsel and Company Secretary. If you feel unable to discuss an issue of misconduct or suspicion of misconduct with your formal leader or are unhappy with the formal leader or manager's response, then it should be raised directly with the General Counsel and Company Secretary.

Minor misconduct may also be reported directly to the Public Sector Commission and serious misconduct may also be reported directly to the Corruption and Crime Commission.

2.8 Managing risk

The Horizon Power Board and Executive are responsible to have in place systems and processes to identify and manage risk. We are all responsible for the overall control and mitigation of risks to the corporate risk appetite. We all have a responsibility to identify, evaluate, manage and report risks to a formal leader, manager or to the Risk and Audit Manager.

Risk Management Policy
Risk Management Framework
Anti-Bribery and Corruption Policy

2.9 Act within delegated authority

The Horizon Power Board delegates its power to enter into transactions to people who occupy particular positions within Horizon Power. The powers are delegated according to the liability which Horizon Power assumes. The delegation arrangements ensure smooth and efficient running of Horizon Power.

We act within the limits of delegated authority as delineated in legislation and company policy.

Additional guidance

Authorities and Delegations Policy
Authorities and Delegations Manual

2.10 Financial management

Adherence to Horizon Power's financial policies and procedures are mandatory for the sound financial management and proper accountability of income, expenditure, assets, liabilities and shareholder funds.

Horizon Power's officers, Executive, management and staff are responsible for proper conduct and adherence to their relevant level of financial authority and application of policies and procedures for the sound financial management of Horizon Power.

Additional guidance

Accounting and Taxation Policy
Budgeting Policy
Cost of Capital Policy
Authorities and Delegations Policy
Authorities and Delegations Manual

2.11 Conflict of interest

We do not allow actual, perceived or potential conflicts of interest to affect Horizon Power operations.

A conflict of interest may exist whenever a staff member is in a situation where their personal interests (being those interests existing outside of the relevant individual's engagement with Horizon Power) actually or potentially conflict, or could be perceived to conflict, with their obligations to Horizon Power and/or the requirements of their position.

Should an actual, potential or perceived conflict of interest arise, the affected person must follow the procedures set out in the Conflicts of Interest Policy.

Additional guidance

Conflicts of Interest Policy

2.12 Gifts

We do not seek, offer or accept any payments, hospitality, gifts, benefits, favours or entertainment (collectively, Gift):

- beyond what is reasonable and comparable to that which Horizon Power provides to business customers or is legitimate business practice;
- which could be, or could be seen to be, conditional, incentive or reward for preferential treatment; or
- which are not in line with the general expectations of the communities Horizon Power serves.

The test in determining whether acceptance of a Gift is appropriate should be measured on its own merits and circumstance, taking into account the above. If a Gift is offered that could be considered by others as improper or conditional, as a reward for preferential treatment or as outside of normal or legitimate business practice, the offer of the Gift must be declined, reported to your formal leader and registered within the Gift Register as a non-approved Gift in the manner described below. Examples of such Gifts include excessively expensive Gifts (such as golf clubs, jewellery, watches, mobile phones, tablet personal computers, business or first class air fares or holidays) and/or Gifts offered by a tenderer in respect of a tender process.

As a guide, in circumstances where it is reasonable for an individual to accept a Gift, individuals may accept standard items or entertainment comparable to that which the organisation provides to its business customers and clients, such as a luncheon or hospitality events.

Any prize won by an individual attending an event on behalf of Horizon Power, in circumstances where Horizon Power paid for the individual to attend the event, will be treated as the property of Horizon Power and not that of the relevant individual. However, if an individual purchases a raffle ticket at such an event with their own money and subsequently wins a prize, they are entitled to keep that prize.

If a Gift exceeds the value of $100, employees and Type A and Type B contractors are required to obtain the prior approval of their formal leader before accepting the Gift and, within a reasonable time after receiving the Gift, register the Gift (and its approximate value, date of receipt, the name of the company providing the Gift and the name of the formal leader who provided prior approval) in the Gift Register (maintained by the General Counsel and Company Secretary) by sending an email to the address noted below.

The Chief Executive Officer (CEO) and directors (other than the Chairperson) must obtain the prior approval of the Chairperson before accepting:

- a Gift (other than hospitality or entertainment) that exceeds $100 in value; and
- hospitality (including meals and beverages) and entertainment (including cultural or sporting events) that exceeds $200 in value, and, within a reasonable time after receiving the Gift, register the Gift (and its approximate value, date of receipt, the name of the company providing the Gift and the name of the person who provided prior approval) in the Gift Register by sending an email to the address noted below. Before accepting a Gift (other than hospitality and entertainment) in excess of $100 in value or hospitality (including meals and beverages) and entertainment (including cultural or sporting events) in excess of $200 in value, the Chairperson must obtain the prior approval of either the CEO or the General Counsel and Company Secretary and then register the Gift in the Gift Register in the manner described above.

In the case of a Gift exceeding $100 in value provided to a team as opposed to an individual (for example, a hamper), the most senior member of the team that received the gift must follow the approval and registration process outlined above in the same way as if the Gift had been offered to them personally.

In regard to Gifts comprising hospitality or entertainment where the actual cost of the hospitality or entertainment is not known at the time of accepting the invitation (for example, an invitation to a restaurant meal), a registration in the Gift Register is required (and prior approval is recommended) where the approximate value of the hospitality or entertainment divided by the number of attendees is likely to exceed $100 (or $200 in the case of the CEO and the directors).

For the avoidance of doubt, although prior approval and registration of a Gift on the Gift Register is permitted on a group basis (i.e. one of the recipients/attendees may obtain prior approval and/or ensure registration of the Gift on behalf of other recipients/attendees), the onus is on each individual receiving an applicable Gift to ensure that they receive prior approval and that the relevant registration is made.

If prior approval is not obtained, the Gift must not be accepted by the relevant individual and returned to the provider or refused in the case of hospitality or entertainment. In these circumstances and within a reasonable time of the formal leader declining approval, the relevant individual must register the non-approval in the Gift Register (and the approximate value of the Gift, the date it was offered, the name of the company who made the offer, the name of the formal leader who declined approval and the reasons why prior approval was not obtained) by sending an email to the address noted below.

Offers of Gifts that are not improper or conditional or outside of normal or legitimate business practice, but are nevertheless refused without being submitted for formal leader approval, do not need to be registered in the Gift Register.

A person engaged by Horizon Power must not allow any family member, friend or personal associate to receive any Gift from a third party where that third party provides the Gift by virtue of the engaged person's connection with Horizon Power, unless approved by a General Manager or the CEO. Approval or non-approval of such Gifts must also be registered in the Gift Register in the manner described above.

Accepting a Gift comprising cash or an item which is easily convertible to cash (such as shares, cheques or money cards) is never acceptable and must be reported immediately to the affected individual's formal leader and registered in the Gift Register as a non-approved Gift in the manner described above.

Membership of airline frequent flyer programs is a private matter. Frequent flyer points earned by individuals in connection with business related travel will accrue to them as a private entitlement.

The Risk and Audit Function will undertake an annual review of the Gift Register and report its findings to the Audit and Risk Management Committee as part of its annual internal audit plan.

Individuals must not offer Gifts to entities outside of Horizon Power without the prior written approval of those individuals' formal leaders.

Managing our people

We want Horizon Power to be known as a company that is respected for delivery and recognises talented and high performing people with potential to create opportunity and rewards. To achieve this requires us to recruit, develop and retain talented high performing employees that are motivated and who share our vision, values and organisational culture.

3.1 Our people

Horizon Power is committed to:

- quality recruitment practices;
- a competitive remuneration framework;
- leave entitlements in accordance with prevailing legal obligations and agreements; and
- maintaining fair and just principles.

We support and develop our people by:

- cultivating a safe, supportive and cohesive work environment;
- taking into account the different locations that our people live and work in;
- providing study assistance for permanent employees;
- providing training and capability development programs and tools;
- providing opportunities for career development and progression; and
- rewarding and recognising individuals for outstanding service.

Horizon Power also ensures a high standard of performance, conduct and behaviour is maintained throughout the business.

Additional guidance

3.2 Recruitment

Recruitment and selection will be undertaken on the basis of open and transparent processes based on the principles of:

- merit;
- increased Aboriginal participation; and
- free from conflict of interest.

Should any employee be concerned with a potential people management issue, they should raise this with their formal leader and/or General Manager or contact Human Resources.

Additional guidance

People Policy
Recruitment Policy

3.3 Health and safety

Our Health and Safety objective is to minimise the risk of harm. The effective control of safety and health risks encountered by employees, contractors and the public is paramount and central to everything we do.

Health and safety legal obligations are the minimum requirement in the establishment of our health and safety risk controls. Horizon Power will aim to exceed these obligations in the completion of our activities. We adhere to Horizon Power's health and safety policies, procedures and systems to reduce the risk of harm to our people, contractors and members of the public.

Additional guidance

Safety and Health Policy

3.3.1 Fit for work

We are committed to creating a healthy and safe workplace. As part of this commitment, Horizon Power provides a strong focus on physical, mental and emotional health so that our people remain fit for work.

To do this Horizon Power:

- maintains appropriate health and fitness standards to enter the workforce and sustain fitness for work;
- prevents the inappropriate behaviour and harm that can be caused by the consumption of alcohol, illicit drugs and prescription medication through workplace risk mitigation;
- promotes physical, mental and emotional health so that people can safely undertake work;
- prevents and minimises the adverse effects of fatigue, work conditions and excessive hours at work; and
- encourages behaviour and attitudes that are conducive to a healthy and safe workplace.

Additional guidance

Fit for Work Policy

3.3.2 Alcohol and drug management

Horizon Power is committed to promoting and managing a safe workplace by preventing or minimising the risk of harm associated with alcohol and illicit drugs consumption.

We must present for work free from the adverse effects of alcohol, drugs, prescription medication or other substances, ensuring that they do not present a health and safety risk.

Additional guidance

Fit for Work Policy

3.4 Management of diversity

We recognise and value our people's diversity. All forms of discrimination and harassment are prohibited.

We do not unlawfully discriminate on the grounds of:

- age;
- family responsibility;
- family status;
- gender history;
- disability or impairment;
- marital status;

- political convictions;
- pregnancy;
- race;
- religious conviction;
- sex; or
- sexual orientation.

We promote community recognition and acceptance of the equality of men and women in the workplace.

We actively seek increased employment opportunities for people of Aboriginal descent.

We apply these principles in all our dealings with work colleagues and all persons having contact with Horizon Power.

3.5 Harassment and bullying

Harassment is unlawful and will not be tolerated. This includes sexual or racial harassment. Sexual harassment includes an unwelcome sexual advance or request for sexual favours or unwelcome conduct of a sexual nature. Racial harassment occurs when a person is threatened, abused, insulted or taunted because of their race, colour, descent, ethnic or national origin or nationality.

Bullying is unacceptable at Horizon Power and can also be unlawful. Bullying comprises repeated, unreasonable or inappropriate behaviour directed towards an employee, or group of employees, that creates a risk to health and safety. At Horizon Power, when we talk about bullying we describe behaviour that is often (but not always) repeated, that:

- victimises;
- humiliates;
- undermines or threatens;
- poses a risk to mental or physical health, safety or wellbeing; or
- is detrimental to work or organisational performance.

Harassing, discriminatory or bullying behaviour can be:

- verbal;
- written;
- visual;
- physical; or
- psychological,

and relates to work activities both within and outside the workplace, including work related social activities.

Victimising someone who has made or been involved in a complaint made under the Code of Conduct may be a breach of the Equal Opportunity Act (1984) (WA).

Manage our external environment

We will create lasting value for our customers and stakeholders by engaging stakeholder groups in a professional manner and conducting our operations to minimise our impact on the environment.

4.1 Responsibility for the environment

We are committed to protecting the environment in the conduct of our operations. We work with Government, local residents and traditional owners to ensure relevant environmental and cultural heritage issues are addressed.

We comply with environmental legislation and make full and proper use of materials, recycling and avoiding waste.

We comply with all heritage legislation and work closely with regulatory bodies and heritage custodians in the protection and promotion of cultural heritage values.

Additional guidance

Environmental Policy

4.2 Communications and stakeholder management

We create lasting value for our customers and stakeholders and protect our corporate reputation by engaging all stakeholder groups in a professional and agile manner.

This is achieved by conducting ourselves with:

- consistency and transparency at all times;
- acting with integrity;
- listening to stakeholders;
- displaying strong leadership;
- employing management practices that are efficient, honest and open; and
- delivering quality services.

Individuals must advise the Manager Communications of any matters that could impact on Horizon Power's corporate reputation, including corporate issues discussed on social media sites such as Facebook and Twitter.

Manage our information and assets

Individuals must only use Horizon Power information and assets, including funds and equipment, for the benefit of Horizon Power and within the limits of their authority.

5.1 Intellectual property

Intellectual property refers to confidential information, and includes copyrights, designs, patents and trademarks.

Horizon Power records, protects and manages intellectual property assets to minimise the risk of non-compliance with prevailing intellectual property laws, regulations and obligations.

We ensure that the intellectual property of Horizon Power, which may have been created by individuals during their employment, using Horizon Power resources, shall vest in and remain the intellectual property of Horizon Power.

Additional guidance

Intellectual Property Policy

5.2 Information and knowledge management

The accuracy, use and handling of information is critical to Horizon Power's integrity and reputation. Correct record keeping improves transparency and accountability of decision making.

Individuals must:

- not make any false or misleading entries;
- respect confidentiality and observe the privacy of information about Horizon Power, its customers and fellow team members;
- disclose all relevant information;
- ensure that only those authorised to use the information concerned are given access to such information;
- use information available to us solely for the purposes required as part of our designated Horizon Power duties;
- not use confidential information that is not publicly available, for our private gain or advantage or that of others;
- maintain appropriate confidentiality after ceasing a relationship, working or otherwise, with Horizon Power; and
- seek advice about the appropriate release of information if you are unsure.

5.3 Company assets

Individuals must use Horizon Power assets, including funds and equipment, in an authorised, efficient and appropriate way. This includes:

- preventing misuse of assets and information;
- controlling and securing assets and information;
- exercising prudence when purchasing goods and/or services;
- applying proper commercial principles to the purchase and disposal of assets;
- adherence to Procurement policies and procedures; and
- reporting lost or damaged assets immediately.

5.4 Procurement

All procurement must be in accordance with the Procurement Policy and should follow the requirements outlined in that Policy.

Additional guidance

Procurement Policy

5.5 Use of credit cards

Corporate credit cards must only be used in accordance with the Corporate Credit Card Policy and Guidelines. The issuing of credit cards is managed within each division with approval required from the relevant formal leader and General Manager.
